

Deirdre O'Callaghan.

Deirdre O'Callaghan is a well known international harpist and singer. She studied harp and voice at the Dominican Convent, Sion Hill alongside fellow students Mary O'Hara and Kathleen Watkins.

Deirdre has brought her harp to the concert halls of Europe and the United States, appearing before President Clinton on one occasion in the White House.

She has four C.D's to her credit and many television appearances including two television series on RTE.

Now living in Dublin she has come out of retirement for to-nights performance.

Recital.

To-nights recital on the life and work of Thomas Moore has its genesis in a thesis which Deirdre completed for her MA in UCD. Deirdre has used the research material for her thesis as a basis for her recital of songs and stories with harp accompaniment.
